SHORE DEFENSES ARE STRENGTHENED

Japan Preparing for Possible Attacks by the Russians.

The French-English Strife Will Not Be Officially Settled Just at This Time.

MOSTLY A NEWSPAPER SCARE.

Victoria, B. C., May 10.—Advice from Japan received by the steamer Empress of India reflect the sanguine feeling over the expected naval battle between Togo and Rojstevsky. The Russians through secret agents are reported to have bought up all the available coal supply of Hong Kong, Saigon and Singapore.

Interviewed the Minister. Paris, May 10.—Japanese Ambassador to France Motono had another interview with minister of foreign affairs, Delcasse, on the neutrality question.

Negotiations Sighted. Paris, May 10.—A dispatch from Saigon to Petit Journal says: Negotiations of the Japanese appeared at daybreak May 9, twenty miles off Cape St. James, preparing to ascend the river to Saigon where the commander expected to find necessary orders for effecting a junction with Rojstevsky and re-embarking his fleet.

He was hailed at sea by a scout belonging to the Russian second Pacific squadron, which communicated to him France's desire that the junction of the Russian squadrons should occur outside of Indo-Chinese waters. Negotiations then disappeared on the open sea, sailing towards the second squadron, which doubtless is awaiting off the Annam coast.

Russians Lost Torpedoes. Victoria, B. C., May 10.—Japanese advice received state that rumors are current that the Russian squadron lost many torpedo craft during the voyage.

Japan Is Preparing. St. Petersburg, May 10.—Reports received by the naval bureau show that the Japanese are calling upon all the naval reserves and concentrating shore defense. In evident preparation to resist any attacks the Russian vessels may make.

The Incident Cleared. Paris, May 10.—The incident which was reported to have occurred between a French and a Japanese vessel in the Indian Ocean, has been cleared up. In the opinion of authorities, has fully observed the obligation of neutrality. No attention will be paid officially to the recent rumor, which is regarded as largely a newspaper scare.

Kept in Communication. St. Petersburg, May 10.—According to the Russian admiralty, the squadrons of Rojstevsky and Negobogoff have been in communication several days by means of fast cruisers. It is said the fleets are close enough together to permit the transmission of wireless messages.

Reached Vladivostok. London, May 10.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. at St. Petersburg wires that the cruiser Almas eluded the Japanese vessels which have been keeping watch for the Russian fleet and reached Vladivostok.

COUPLE KILLED.

Japanese Couple Found Dead in New York City.

New York, May 10.—Side by side in the morgue a Japanese woman and man lie dead.

The man has a bullet hole in his head, and the woman is shot in the breast.

The names of the dead are unknown but the police are convinced the man killed the woman and committed suicide in the hotel where the bodies were found and the tragedy is believed to be the result of a love affair.

The couple registered "Miron Lewis and Wife, New York."

Married at Cairo. Cairo, Ill., May 10.—Mr. Will A. Roberts and Miss Bertie Lindsay, of Bardwell, Ky. were married at the office of County Clerk Miller, Rev. T. J. Porter officiating.

SHORT SPEECHES BY THE PRESIDENT

Oration Tendered Chief Executive All Along Line.

His Addresses Were in His Usual Happy Tone and Were Short.

HE REACHED CHICAGO TODAY

Chicago, Ill., May 10.—President Roosevelt arrived at noon today promptly on schedule time, and was given a warm welcome.

A strong police guard surrounded the station and detectives occupied every point of vantage.

A procession was formed and the president was escorted to the hotel, where he had luncheon with the Merchants' club.

The general program for the day, as arranged, was carried out to the letter.

Labor leaders who announced that they would present their side of the teamsters strike to the president decided not to do so.

Ten Thousand at Dixon, Ill. Dixon, Ill., May 10.—Ten thousand people welcomed President Roosevelt on his arrival at Dixon, the first stop in the state. Men, women and children, cheered him wildly and listened to a speech six minutes long.

The president also spoke briefly to a large crowd at Sterling.

Plans Were Changed. Omaha, May 10.—Late yesterday afternoon it was decided to change the route of the presidential train and send it across the Missouri river at Blair, Neb., 25 miles north of Omaha.

When the train reached Fremont it was turned over to the Northwestern road, which took the train across the cut-off to Missouri Valley, Iowa, where the main line branches off and runs direct to Chicago.

The trip across Nebraska has been a most pleasant one for the president. Leaving Denver early Tuesday morning, nearly the entire day was spent in crossing the Nebraska plains. Several speeches, all brief, were delivered by the president from the rear platform of his car.

During the day the Union Pacific train transmitted over its wires fresh news of the day, which was delivered in its regular bulletin forms to the president, who expressed his gratification at this innovation in keeping his train in touch with the news of the world.

Congratulates Roosevelt. Omaha, May 10.—Gov. Mickey today sent to President Roosevelt the following message:

"Congratulations on your successful outing and pleasant hunt. Trust you will have a safe journey across our state and to Washington."

Speeches Were Brief. Grand Island, Neb., May 10.—Despite the rain, five thousand people gathered in the Union Pacific depot at 6:20 to see and hear President Roosevelt.

The president, smiling and happy, was out upon the rear platform and lost no time in greeting the Nebraskaans gathered here. He had already begun to address the throng when Miss Anna Gamble and members of the high school graduating class worked their way through the crowd and presented the president with a bouquet of flowers on behalf of the business men of Grand Island and of the school. The president expressed his appreciation, especially as coming from school children venturing the assurance that he needed not call attention to his fondness for school children.

After referring to his former visit here, his address took the more general turn. He had barely closed when his train pulled out of the yards and the shouts and hurrahs of the most enthusiastic and untiring gathering that had ever taken place here.

With only four stops for speeches the trip of the presidential special from Denver to this city was uneventful. The train arrived here at 8:30. Senator Burkett and Edward Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, were taken on board as the president's guests as far as Omaha. The speeches were all

WOODMEN OF WORLD

SOVEREIGN CAMP IN SESSION AT CHATTANOOGA.

No Steps Will Be Taken Towards Admitting Women to Membership.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 10.—The annual convention, Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, has convened here and sessions are being held on Lookout Mountain. A brief address of welcome was delivered by Sovereign Commander J. C. Root, and several committee reports were made. The election and installation of officers will occur today. The session will continue three days.

For once a recommendation of Founder and Sovereign Commander J. C. Root regarding the Woodmen of the World has had no material effect.

Mr. Root suggested or recommended to the law committee that it recommend to the sovereign camp a new degree, making the wives, daughters and sisters of the members of the order eligible for membership. The law committee decided not to make such a recommendation.

Though Mr. Root and Mrs. Emma J. Manchester, Supreme Guardian of the Woodmen Circle, deny it, it is learned from several members of the Woodmen of the World that there has been friction between the head of the order and its auxiliary.

When asked about the matter Mr. Root said: "I made such a suggestion or recommendation to the law committee relative to the new degree, but nothing will be done at this convention. Nothing will be done at the present time regarding this matter."

BOARD OF WORKS

Will Hold Its Regular Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon.

The board of public works will not meet this afternoon, the meeting having been postponed until tomorrow.

There is a great deal of business to transact but on account of the circus and other matters which will cause the members to be busy this afternoon, the meeting could not be held.

The contract for reconstructing Third street will be signed this afternoon sometime.

City Engineer Washington had to go over the contract and verify it, and when this work is finished the contract will be signed by President S. P. Noble, of the board of public works, for the city and Mr. John Bridges, for the contractors.

Marriage in Tellico.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 10.—The Rev. H. C. McMill, of Olivet Baptist church, and Miss Thelma Lowry, daughter of Col. S. J. Lowry, of Harpersburg, were married. The Rev. M. T. Stanley of Morganfield, performed the ceremony.

Chief and wife were devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the country through which the president passed and to the subject of irrigation. The president spoke longest at North Platte, Neb., when he spoke on irrigation, good citizenship, schools, and especially the children. He complimented the veterans of the civil war, congratulated the people upon their evident prosperity.

HIGHEST OFFICE GOES TO PADUCAHAN

Mr. L. L. Bebout Elected Great Sachem of Red Men.

Delegates So Pleased They Decide to Go to Frankfort Again Next Year.

THE OTHER OFFICERS ELECTED

Frankfort, Ky., May 10.—The eleventh annual Great Council of Kentucky of the Improved Order of Red Men was so well pleased with their reception that they gave this city the next annual meeting of the council, over several rival places, including Louisville.

At a business meeting officers were chosen as follows:

L. L. Bebout, Paducah, Great Sachem.

D. H. Russell, Louisville, Great Senior Sagamore.

R. L. Page, Louisville, Great Junior Sagamore.

Henry W. Ray, Maysville, Chief of Records.

S. C. Moore, Louisville, Great Keeper of Wampum.

H. H. Denhardt, Bowling Green, Great Prophet.

The following delegates to the Great Council of the United States, at Nashville, were elected: H. H. Denhardt, Bowling Green, M. R. Wallerstein, Paducah; W. A. Croder, Dr. Buschner and Gus A. Ellerkamp.

Mr. G. H. Warner of Clarksville, Tenn., is in the city.

A Riot in a Non-Union Boarding House Causes Injuries to Several.

Chicago, May 10.—President Roosevelt today was the diverting feature of the strike situation.

Recognizing the importance of showing peaceful conditions, labor leaders made efforts to prevent their following from being responsible for any disturbances.

The teamsters council adopted resolutions denying that there will be a general strike.

A riot occurred in State street this afternoon when alleged strikers raided a non-union boarding house. Several men were badly cut and two were wounded with bullets.

HEART DISEASE.

Causes the Death of a Well Known Woman of Fulton.

Fulton, Ky., May 10.—Mrs. Temple Polack, one of the oldest residents of Fulton, is dead. Yesterday while standing over a table passing some clothes Mrs. Polack suffered a stroke of apoplexy or heart trouble, and with a groan sank to the floor unconscious. For the past twenty-four hours previous to her death she was in a stupor.

BLEW OUT BRAINS

MOUND CITY BARTENDER GIVES NO REASON FOR RASH ACT.

Had Been Drinking for a Day or Two Before the Tragedy.

Fritz Nelson, a young man, committed suicide at Mound City, Ill., yesterday by shooting himself through the temple, at Neidstein's saloon.

Nelson was employed as a bartender. He is alleged to have become intoxicated and got on a big rear. About noon he went to Neidstein's saloon and walking up behind the bar, took a revolver from beneath the counter, and shot himself through the temple. He gave no reason for his rash act.

Several months ago Nelson was charged with stealing from his employer. He made his escape to East St. Louis, where he was arrested and brought back to Mound City and placed in jail.

About the time that Eli Bugg was hanged in Mound City, Neidstein had Nelson taken out of jail and again gave him employment as a bartender.

He had been working every day and been living a quiet life until yesterday, when he got on a drunk as was stated above, and ended his life.

JUDGE REED.

Will Probably Attend Meeting of the Bar Association.

The Kentucky State Bar Association will be in session in Covington May 22 and 23 and the indications are that the attendance will be large. The association has a membership of 500. The program announced is an interesting one from a legal standpoint. J. P. Hobson, chief justice of the Kentucky court of appeals, will deliver an address on "Appellate Proceedings."

The other speakers are as follows: Judge Watt Parker, of Lexington, on "The Trial Judge."

Henry L. Stone, of Louisville, on "Taxation."

Judge John E. Hager, of Ashland, on "Abstracting of Records in the Court of Appeals."

Judge S. H. Hazelrigg, of Frankfort, on "Conflict of Federal and State Jurisdiction."

It is likely that the only Paducah lawyer to go will be Judge Wm. Reed who is on the program.

FIRE THE LOCKUP

And Then Upon Being Caught the Boy Confessed.

Alex Hutchinson, the 18 year old boy who escaped from the Brookport, Ill., lockup Sunday morning and is alleged to have fired the building, was arrested at Trahamville this county yesterday and is now in the hands of authorities again. He admits, it is alleged, that he set fire to the jail, but denies that anyone helped him.

The boy was out on parole from the Illinois house of reform and having violated it, was arrested. The authorities were preparing to send him back when he escaped and fired the jail.

Thirteen may be an unlucky number, but one sewing machine and twelve phonographs will do the work of a dozen women.

THE MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF STRANGER

Causes Inquiry to be Made of Local Police Department.

Negro Found in Yards in Water Valley, Miss., With Paducah Address.

HE HAD ONCE LIVED HERE.

The following dispatch appears in today's Memphis Commercial-Appeal from Water Valley, Miss.:

Water Valley, Miss., May 9.—A negro was found unconscious in the yards of the Illinois Central railroad here this afternoon and died two hours later without gaining consciousness. Examination at a coroner's inquest failed to find any injury or marks of violence, and the cause of his death is still a mystery.

He had $8 in money and a note book in which the name, Willie Perph, 817 Washington avenue, Paducah, was written several times. In addition this book contained the names of several firms in Memphis and Birmingham. He was about 25 years of age, weighed 160 pounds and was a dark malatto. It is thought by some that he is the negro who recently criminally assaulted a young lady near Blue Springs, in Union county, this state, and the authorities there are being communicant with on the subject tonight.

Chief of Police James Collins last night received a message in regard to the negro, and made an investigation, but could learn nothing at the address given except that a negro by the above name formerly lived there, but left sometime ago, and that his father lived in Livingston, Ky. If he has any relatives at the latter place they will be notified at once.

Judge Gordon, of the Hopkinsville circuit court, seems to have more than the ordinary common-sense stored up in his cranium. He thinks that in view of indisputable evidence extending back to a time almost coincident with the appearance of man, certain minor evils cannot be eradicated or prevented and there should be laws seeking to regulate rather than to prohibit them.

He is quoted as having said from the bench the other day in a somewhat facetious vein, in regard to crap shooting:

"The judge concluded from the evidence that the colored gentleman had beyond a reasonable doubt, been engaged in practicing at the game, all right, and said that the law, of course is plain upon the proposition, and inferred the severity of the penalty imposed that the intent and purpose of the law making body was to break up and uproot this practice among the descendants of Ham. But in the opinion of the court, the lawmakers had undertaken to reverse nature, and that it was and is a mighty hard thing to reverse nature, and especially the nature of a Hopkin county 'nigger.' He expressed the opinion that it was as natural for a negro to shoot craps as for water to flow down hill and that the terrors of a fine or jail sentence were utterly ineffective to reverse or to any great extent restrain this natural tendency to engage in a game of craps on Sunday evening that was so general among the colored fraternity. He suggested that it would be better to regulate the game and 'let her go.' He said it would be a good idea to build a big pen at some convenient place on the sunny side of a slope, and appoint a few guards to search all the corners as they entered and relieve them of their razors and other articles and let them rattle the bones to a fare-you-well."

STATE MACHINE WILL RUN CAMPAIGN

The Democratic Committee Selects Campaign Managers.

Willie James, From This District, is One of Them—Hardin County Primary Called Off.

AMENDMENT MADE TO RULES.

Frankfort, Ky., May 10.—The state central committee of the democratic party has appointed a state campaign committee to manage the campaign this year in several counties for legislative and county offices.

It has called off the convention ordered by the district committees of the Twelfth senatorial district to be held in Hardin county alone, to select a nominee for the three counties comprising it, and "advised" that committee to hold a primary election all over the district.

It also adopted an amendment to the party rules to lift such cases in the future, the new rule providing that district nominations be made by the rotation system, only when there is unanimous consent, and then to be ratified by the district committee.

The members of the state campaign committee are John M. Lansing, of Boone, Lewis McQueen, of Bowling Green, Ollie M. Jansse, of Marion, Milton Board, of Breckinridge and Richard W. Miller, of Madison.

Judge Lansing is chairman of the committee.

100 CASUALTIES

In the Jewish Massacre in Russia—Property Damage Half a Million.

Atomir, Russia, May 10.—While the list of killed and injured in the recent riots is not complete it has been ascertained that there were over a hundred victims of the outbreak on both sides.

The attack on the Jews was apparently carefully planned, with the tacit consent of the authorities. It is estimated that fully half a million dollars damage was done during the rioting.

CASSINI RECALLED.

Russian Ambassador to Go to Madrid.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has been transferred to Madrid by order of the czar. He will present his letter of recall when the president returns. It is announced that Baron Derosen, formerly minister to Japan, will be Cassini's successor.

Depot Improvements.

This morning the new pipe line put in at the depot was completed and is a success. Four cars can be watered at once and in half the time it formerly took. The company will put in 200 feet of big hose for fire protection at the depot and new wiring in the depot began this morning. Improvements are being made in every way, the depot building having just been painted both inside and outside.

Watch Out for Thieves.

Chief of Police Collins warns everyone to be on the lookout for thieves and pickpockets of every description today and tonight. They always follow a circus, as even the best regulated circus cannot prevent it.

SIX STRAIGHTS FOR THE INDIANS

Wiley Platt Performs Wonderful Feat of Pitching.

Calro Defeated Hoptown Again by a Narrow Margin—Vincennes—Princeton, Ind.

Today's Schedule.
Princeton at Paducah.
Vincennes at Calro.
Henderson at Hopkinsville.

Wiley Platt was the instrument which forced the third consecutive pill at defeat down the throats of the Hens, and at the same time yesterday performed one of the greatest pitching feats on record—certainly one which had never been duplicated in the K. I. T. league.

Platt pitched nine innings, but 27 men to face him, never struck a man, never walked a man, and allowed but one hit, this being a weak hit which accidentally went to left field down the base line in the fifth inning. Dennis was the lucky man to find Platt but was doomed to bitter disappointment for while trying to go down to second was caught by a throw from Platt to Gilligan to Potts. This was the only time a man reached first base for the visitors.

The Hens found Wiley invincible, and try hard as they may could only get up and saw or hit to the infield. Only once did a fly go to the outfield and McClain got this. The Hens were clearly outclassed but never lost courage and played fast ball.

Paducah scored in the first and fifth innings. In the first a regular bombardment was worked on Sadler's delivery, and he was humiliated unmercifully. McClain, first man up, started the dust to flying when he singled to right center for two sacks. Gilligan singled to right field and Taylor worked Sadler for a walk. Vahrenhorst hit a hot one to center field and Dennis got his feet tangled in it. McClain and Gilligan scoring and Taylor making third on the error. Hohannan singled to center field and scored Taylor. Potts flew out to right, Perry went out from second to first and Land retired the side by fouling out to third base. Four runs.

In the fifth inning the Indians scored again on errors. Vahrenhorst hit to third base and Durand fumbled and threw wild. Hohannan hit a hot one to Crowder who threw wild and "Red" got his first sack. Vahrenhorst while playing off second was caught by a throw from DeWesse but Hohannan scored when Perry singled to center field. Potts fly out to left and Land's popout to Crowder retired the side. One run.

The summary follows:
Innings. 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9-r h e
Paducah 4 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 x-5 12 0
Batteries—Sadler and DeWesse, Platt and Land; umpire, Kelfer. Attendance, 500.

Gave Calro a Tussel.
Calro, Ill., May 10.—The Linnites gave the locals one of the hardest battles of the season yesterday, Calro winning by lurching hits.

The summary:
R H E
Calro 3 8 2
Hopkinsville 1 6 0
Batteries—Witt and Gray, Alexander and Schan; umpire, Zinkus.

This Was a Tie.
Princeton, Ind., May 10.—Rain stopped yesterday's game in the fifth inning with the score a tie.

The summary:
R H E
Princeton 4 6 3
Vincennes 4 8 3
Batteries—Duffy and Lemon, Weakley, Keller and Walters; umpire, Ike.

Platt's Feat.

Wiley Platt's feat of pitching yesterday when only 27 men faced him and when he allowed but one hit, was not the first time he had turned the trick. Platt spent six years in the National league and once performed the same feat against Louisville.

Platt in talking of his work last night stated that he could remember but four instances in the big league when this trick was done, the latest twirler to turn the trick being Cy Young last year. Platt really allowed no hits because it is said that Kelfer erred in his judgment of the ball, and it really was a foul.

Kelfer, of course, was sincere and honest in his decision, but was not in a position to see the ball. It struck about a foot outside the foul line.

Here is what Platt did, summed up in a few words:
Struck out twelve men
Walked none.
Struck none.

Allowed but one hit.
Not a man got past first base.
Only 27 men faced him, this being the exact and lowest number of batters who could possibly face a pitcher.

The Henderson boys say that Lloyd's tribe of Indians are about the fastest aggregation in the league and whoever beats the Indians will win the rag.

All are anxiously awaiting the time when Paducah and Calro will meet.

Kubitz asked Lloyd if he didn't have any "bum" pitchers, but he soon saw, generally a team has one or two weak twirlers but Kubitz says Paducah is exceptionally strong in batters.

Perry is one of the fastest twirlers in the minor leagues.

South will open the Princeton series. He is in good trim and will set the Hays in a fast pace.

Vahrenhorst seems to have gotten his batting eye back and is hitting them hard.

Crowder and French made sensational one handed catches of liners yesterday.

Dennis made a sensational catch in center for Henderson yesterday.

Henderson takes defeat gracefully. The Gleaner says:

"Since the season started only one visiting team has won. All three of the visiting teams have been shut out. Henderson has lost two games by one run, one by two and in the other it was a runaway. Now if the bunch isn't playing ball then there never was a team that did. Wait until Calro and Paducah reach Henderson. This village will certainly get even for those defeats. And anyhow the fans in Princeton and Hopkinsville have to put up with the same thing."

French stole a base on Land at Paducah Sunday. He is the first man to puffer a bag on the big catcher. En route to Calro the Henderson team stopped at Princeton. DeWesse and Durand found a four leaf clover near the depot. Secretary Zimbro offered a nickel for each four leaf found. "Slim" Sadler found eleven and compromised with Jake for 50 cents. It is useless to say that the secretary has tossed the clovers found by the long one to the winds. —Henderson Gleaner.

Gilligan plays first sack like an old hand. He always encourages the boys with his ever ready glazer.

FIRE INSURANCE REPORT FOR STATE

Good Business Indicated for Most of the Companies.

A Number of Changes and Recommendations Are Made by State Commissioner Prewitt.

GOOD PROFIT FOR THE STATE.

Frankfort, Ky., May 10.—The "fire" volume of the thirty-fifth annual report of the Kentucky Insurance department has been made to State Auditor Hager by Insurance Commissioner Henry R. Prewitt. The report is voluminous, going into detail of the business done during the twelve months covered by it, and Commissioner Prewitt makes a number of interesting suggestions as to amendments to present laws of the state and needed laws.

The report shows the risks written in Kentucky for the year to have been $266,258,083. Of this amount the Kentucky stock companies wrote $3,915,253; the Kentucky mutuals $2,351,295; the Kentucky assessment companies, $3,287,381; the stock companies of other states, $133,067,272; and the foreign companies, $83,616,880. The premiums reported on Kentucky business amounted to $3,611,538.29. The losses paid are given as $1,619,993.98. The ratio of losses paid to premiums received on the business of stock companies of other states in this state is about 45 per cent; that of foreign companies on their business in Kentucky is a fraction over 12 per cent.

During the year the department collected into the treasury $226,345.55. The sum of the receipts for fees and licenses together with the amount received for taxes for the year is $50,162.69 more than similar sums received during the previous year.

Among the recommendations of the commissioner are: One that the reports to this department be made on January 1 of each year instead of July 1; that each insurance agent be required to produce his license to the county clerk; state regulation of licenses to be charged companies by municipalities; the appointment of a state fire marshal to better protect the people and the companies from incendiarism, and the repeal of section 704 of the Kentucky statutes, commonly known as the valued or fixed policy law, requiring the company to pay full value in certain cases. Commissioner Prewitt also recommends the passage of more stringent laws as to companies unauthorized to do business in the state, requiring persons giving business to such companies to report it and pay the tax, and that each insurance company be required, as in New York, to pay a certain tax for the benefit of the fire departments of the several cities of the state.

THE COW QUESTION AT MADISONVILLE

Board of Aldermen is Afraid to Meet Because of It.

Much Feeling Both for and Against the Cow, with No Final Settlement in Sight.

A CLOSE CALL FOR THE COW

Paducah is not the only Kentucky town now agitated over the "cow question." In Madisonville the effort to "oust" the cow has resulted in a temporary suspension of public business, according to the following dispatch:

Madisonville, May 9.—The city council of Madisonville is unable to meet and transact business on account of the question of whether stock should or should not be permitted to run at large and the absence of a member. The cow law proposition has been more or less a theme of discussion and division for quite awhile. About two years ago, the council passed an act prohibiting dogs from running at large at any time day or night, but such a hubbub was raised in certain quarters that it was afterward amended so as to permit the running at large during the day.

Recently Jas. H. Young, a member of the council, went to Colorado for a visit with his son, and when the council met last regular session last Tuesday night, after passing the claims and some other routine business, adjourned to attend the commercial club meeting, called for the courthouse the same night, and fixed Wednesday night for the adjourned meeting. All were present that night but Alderman Young, who was in Colorado and Alderman Hanks.

Before the meeting was called to order, however, somebody whispered something to Alderman Ross, something seemed to dawn upon his range of mental vision, and he resented an appointment previously made and excused himself for a few minutes. It appears that he was tipped to the idea Alderman Chick Foley was laying for him to repeal the cow law. With Alderman Young absent, Alderman Foley, whose strenuousness is tremendous in opposition to any sort of curfew law as applied to the animal kingdom, had let somebody know that he had a good trump up his sleeve and that he would spring the repeal of this law while Alderman Young was absent and that he would be able to rally a majority of one and put the enemies of the liberty of the cow to flight.

But Alderman Ross has been unable to attend the meetings since, and Alderman Hanks has been seized with an idea that the city hall is unwholesome at this time, and that it will not be safe, from a hygienic standpoint, until Alderman Young returns from Colorado.

Alderman Foley professes to be very much disgusted with the attitude of his absenting colleagues and threatens to fight the question out before the bar of public opinion or any other kind of old bar that he may run across.

Meanwhile, Alderman Ross can be found during business hours behind the bar of the Kentucky bank, winking the other eye when anything happens to be said about the cow law or Alderman Young or Alderman Foley or anything of that sort.

Young Man of Metropolis, Hal Mcand, Dies of Wounds.

The remains of Mr. Hal Mcand, of Metropolis, Ill., reached the city today from Caruthersville, Mo., and were taken to Metropolis today for burial.

The young man was 23 years old and had been married five months, going to Caruthersville to locate and enter the timber buying business.

Several days ago while hunting he was accidentally shot and died yesterday of his injuries. He was one of the most popular young men in Metropolis, being a brother to City Marshal James Mcand, of Metropolis. His father is Mr. George Mcand, reputed the finest cornetist in Southern Illinois. He also leaves several brothers.

Theatrical Notes

George Fox, extensively billed as "the blazing light of laughter," will be seen at The Kentucky Thursday and Friday nights in his latest and funniest offering, "The Man Behind." A company of thirty singers, dancers, comedians and handsome show girls will assist in this lively musical satire. Of all the funny characters that Mr. Fox has been seen in during his stage career, Marfadauke James Perkins in the Man Behind offers an opportunity for an ideal role for the exploitation of his talents. The part gives him full scope for his laugh compelling ability. Cellomist Harland, Edwina Allen, F. Wallace Pike, Win. M. Hensch, Miss Agnes Fuller, Miss Arline Waldo, Miss Laura Drake, Miss Una Chen Johnson, Miss Rea Rivers and many others will assist in the jolly and some beautiful scenic effects and costumes are promised; also a large contingent of physically attractive chorus girls. Seats are now on sale.

He Took the Candy.

A group of youngsters sat about on the curb in front of the Palmer house last evening, carefully scanning a gaudy circus poster in the hands of one, and telling of the sights they expected to witness today when the great Forepaugh-Sells circus arrived. A number of interested hotel guests were nearby and their attention had been attracted by some amusing remarks of the kids that brought them back to the days when circus time was the big event of the year for them. In the group happened to be a representative of the show who offered a free ticket for today's performance to the boy who could write the best piece of poetry bearing on the show. Soon the kids were busy with pencil and paper and when they had finished the free pass was carried off by "Jimmy" who wrote the following:

"When I grow up I want to join a sirkus
I want to join a sirkus.
I want to wear a pink and spangled suit
And make a grand saloot,
I want to climb up on a big trapeze
And skin the kat with ees,
And then hang up there onl bi mi eers
While everybody cheers."

THE NEW TEACHERS HAVE BEEN CHOSEN

Recommendations of the Committee Were Concurred In.

The Purchase of Rowlandtown School Site Again Hogs Fire—Supt. Hoyer Re-elected.

NAMES OF NEW INSTRUCTORS.

The board of education met last night and elected teachers for the ensuing year. The superintendent and principals had already been elected and the election of teachers was held a month or more earlier than usual in order that all would know in time where they are to be next term.

The board took up the purchase of the Rowlandtown property for a school, and referred it back to the committee, to have a change made in the manner of drawing up the notes for $2,000, and to have eliminated from the deed a stipulation that five feet be reserved for a public alley.

The note for $2,000 was all in one and the board wants it in two $1,000 notes. It was not known that any provision was made for an alleyway and the board decided it could open the alley if it were ever necessary, but would not agree to have anything in the deed about an alley.

The board fixed the salary of music supervisor at $55 a month.

Mr. Fred Hoyer was re-elected superintendent of buildings for a year by unanimous vote with a salary of $60 a month. His tenure of office had been by the month but he has given such satisfaction that he was elected for a year this time.

The committee on examination and course of study reported that they had gone over the applications for places in the public schools:

High School.
Professor Payne, history; Adah Brazleton, mathematics; Marian Noble, Latin; Emma Morgan, English; Professor C. L. Woodbury, science; Professor J. L. Riley, modern languages; Mrs. Eva Whitney, supervisor of music.

Mabel Roberts, Lora Brandon, Bertie Kettler, Rosa Flournoy, Ethel Mitchell, Ida Hebert, Jessie Byrd, Margaret Kirk, Sue Archibson, Flora McKee, Mabel Mitchell, Margaret Acker, Mary O. Murray, Lillie Burdine, Blanche Moore, Audrey Taylor, Hannah Bonds, Mrs. Ellen Wilcox, Jessie Rook, Mrs. Fannie Taylor, Laura Thomas, Virginia Johnson, Lizzie Singleton, Ella Larkin, Elizabeth Chapeze, Lany Moore, Hattie Sherwin, Esther Boyd, Ellen Willis, Lillie Cook, Laura Hand, Cathy Thomas, Annie Larkin, Addie Byrd, Clara Moore, Ollie Wilson, Mary Cummings, Emma Acker, Kate White, Hattie Newell, Eleanor Wright, Carrie Blythe.

Colored.
Pauline Meyers, Addie Howells, Laura Hibbs, Georgia Jones, Maggie Pearson, Clydes Kivel, Lizzie Hawkins, T. D. Hibbs, principal of Garfield building; Lula Benton, Ida Baker, Rena Tenner, Minnie Hall, Cattie Emery, Maggie Merchant, George Robinson, and E. W. Benton, latter principal of the Lincoln building.

All the teachers now in the schools who applied were re-elected. Prof. Woodbury takes Prof. Sullivan's place, Prof. Riley the place of Miss McGugin, and Miss Eleanor Wright the place of Miss Urnstein, while Miss Emma Morgan gets Miss Stewart's place as instructor in English literature.

Prof. Woodbury had been elected superintendent of the schools at Meriville, Mo., for another year, but preferred to come to Paducah. Prof. Riley comes from Arkadelphia, Ark., and Miss Wright is from Mayfield, Ky. Miss Morgan has been a principal in the schools here but did not apply for a principalship this year, preferring other work.

As doubtless already well known the principals are as follow:

W. H. Sugg, for Franklin building.
J. T. Hoss, for the Jefferson.
J. A. Jackson, for the R. E. Lee.
W. P. Johnson, for the Longfellow.
E. G. Payne, for the Washington.

DOESN'T IT APPEAL TO YOU?

Doesn't the plan we offer for saving insurance premiums appeal to you as being a practical solution of the question of carrying life insurance? Haven't you often desired to carry insurance, but could not because you could not meet the premiums? With our plan you practically eliminate any failure to meet premium dues.

It is a big thing to have to pay the whole premium at one time, but if you are saving for it throughout the year by our plan, you will have saved it without feeling the drain on your income. If you are not familiar with the plan here it is:

By starting an account with this bank with any amount from one dollar up, you can obtain one of the Metal Safes we lend to depositors. By keeping this bank in your home you will be able to save your insurance premium a little at a time—one fifty-second part each week, or one-twelfth each month. You can bring or send the bank to this bank on the first of every month, when the contents will be placed to your credit and begin to draw interest—4 per cent. compounding twice a year. We'll be glad to talk it over with you.

ABOUT STRAWBERRIES.

The Home-Grown Berry is Said to Be Better Than Usual.

It is a noticeable feature this season that the Florida strawberries are not as fine in size or even in flavor as they usually are. This is due to an unusual early spring and the fact that the southern shippers are trying to rush the market by picking their berries in partially green state. The next berries that will appear on the market will be the Tennessee crop.

The Tennessee strawberry is greatly relished by people in this section. A well-known commission merchant, who has been in the berry business for many years, or at least since the shipping industry of vegetables and green products has been in vogue, said:

"You can't beat this immediate section in the production of strawberries. The mode of cultivation here has a great deal to do with the flavor and appearance of the product. Now, the Tennessee and Florida berries are grown in sandy soil, without any protection. Not so in this section. The berry raisers here cultivate their vines in the fall and then cover them with straw, which, of course, is plentiful in grain-growing sections. When the vine shoots up in the spring, the straw forms a cover over the soil, and the berry has a clean surface to rest upon. It ripens prettier under such conditions and the flavor is delightful. The indications are that the crop this season will be excellent as to quality, though the quantity may not be what it generally is. The drought last fall did a great deal of damage to vines. Many vines died. The crop will be in full blast the latter part of May. Strange to say, the Illinois crop though just across the river, is always about ten days later than the Kentucky crop. The berries are about the same variety and quality, and I cannot understand why they are so much later."

OWL FOR PRESENT.

Trainsmaster Didn't Fancy It and Turned It Loose.

Some one sent Trainsmaster L. E. McCabe, of the Paducah district of the I. C., a screech owl this morning. Mr. McCabe stated that he did not know who sent it but didn't like such pets and had the bird taken out and freed. The owl flew against a window, clung there a short time, then went to a house top to await the coming of darkness when he would be able to see which way he wanted to go.

A Lively Runaway.

A team of horses sent by the Tully livery stable to the Lagomarsino Hotel at Second and Broadway to take a drummer to the country, ran away yesterday afternoon and struck a telephone post in front of the hotel, a piece of the broken wagon flying against one of the $100 plate glass windows in the saloon and breaking it. One of the horses dashed across the street in front of Cherry's grocery and ran into a rope stretched across to keep wagons off the excavated street, almost tearing the awning in front of the grocery down, and being knocked insensible. The wagon was broken. Mr. Lagomarsino's loss is covered by insurance.

Death at Elva.

LET THE LAW DECIDE.

The Owensboro Messenger asks: "Is murder a crime in the eyes of the Republican party?" The only reason it asks such a profoundly sensible question is that Caleb Powers, having failed three times to get a fair trial in Democratic courts of Kentucky, is now seeking, not to escape justice for what he has done, but to escape, if he can, judicial murder for something he did not do.

Of course it is a cruel thrust at the benevolent judicial machinery in certain parts of the state run by the Democratic party in the interest of the Democratic party, but when a man has been in jail five years without a fair trial, he is probably justified in becoming a little impatient—even in going to the extremity of seeking to have his case considered by courts that respect the constitutional rights of man.

The Messenger is moved to remark:

"Of the latest efforts none is so outrageous as the effort to take the case from the jurisdiction of the courts of Kentucky—where it rightfully belongs—and take it to a jurisdiction against which murder is not a crime, for it is a crime only against the state in which it is committed save only when the murdered man is an official of the federal government, and murdered while in the direct discharge of his duty. But in the movement the Republican press in Kentucky, sees not only the right thing to do, but the only thing to do."

Yes, it's outrageous, no doubt, but suppose we let the court decide the question of law the Messenger so sapiently poses on? The quicker the state courts dispose of the Powers case in a fair, unprejudiced manner, the sooner such statements as this, from the Pittsburgh Gazette, will cease:

"Kentucky has so weakened the independence of its judges by making their positions dependent upon local election every six years, and has so conditioned appeals from the local courts that it is a question whether its whole system of jurisprudence has not ceased to be due process of law."

There's about as much sense in saying one telephone company ought not to be permitted to charge more for its service than another, as to say that a railroad shouldn't be allowed to charge more for carrying a man 200 miles than for carrying him 100 miles, or that a merchant shouldn't charge more for a $30 suit of clothes than for a $20 suit. Sen-shle people are not worried over any telephone bill in capital letters. They may usually be depended on to spend their money where they get the best rates for the most satisfactory service. And when the rates or service of one company do not suit them, it is their inalienable privilege to go to another company.

Judge Hargis was at that Democratic executive committee meeting yesterday, and nothing was said about his resigning. If the Democrats are proud of him, and can stand him, it is presumed the remainder of the state will get along somehow. There is a great deal of consistency, however, in Caleb Powers spending five dreary years in jail, while Judge Hargis sits snugly as a member of the principal committee of the Democratic party in Kentucky. O yes, the Democrats hate an alleged murderer—if he is a Republican!

The city should now hasten the work on Third street as everything is about ready to begin. It is to be hoped that there will be no delays, and that the reconstruction of this important thoroughfare will proceed in a very different manner from that in which it proceeded—or rather did not proceed—when local contractors did the work.

The circus, just as it has done from time immemorial, drew thousands to the city today. They are old and young, black and white, great and small, and rich and poor. And from appearances the circus is just as attractive to them all now as it was twenty-five years ago.

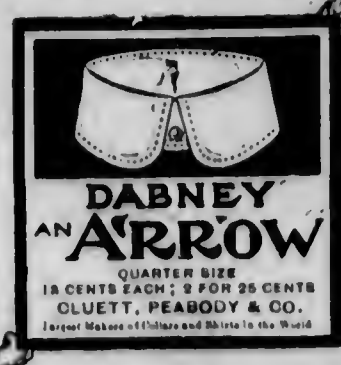

The dark war clouds that threatened some of the European countries a day or two ago seem to have been dispelled. There is no danger of a clash between France and England, it appears, but there is still a tense feeling that bodes no good for the future.

Somebody Sure to Get Hurt.

(Lansville Herald.)

That boom for Ollie James as successor to Gov. Heckman will not down. It has taken firm hold of the Democrats in the western counties. Mr. James is a Bryantite; so are the masses of democracy in the Gibraltar. Mr. James is an ardent free trader and free silverite. The Democrats of Western Kentucky are, as a rule, for any policy, any principle, any purpose alien and hostile to republicanism. Good, well-meaning people among them in thousands; they refuse as a body to abandon the Chicago platform of 1896. They are much more consistent than the Courier-Journal, which in 1896 went in for gold, but finding that silver at sixteen to one paid better in Kentucky, democratic journalism took up that fact in 1900, favored the Parker straddle on the currency in 1904 and in 1908 will very likely support Mr. Bryan's theory that the government ought to purchase a new printing press to turn out money by the bale.

Congressman James refused to go last summer to Esopus. Henry IV. of Germany went to Panossa in 1077 to make submission to Pope Gregory VII. Prince Bismarck went in our own time to a figurative Canossa to make peace with Pope Leo XIII. Col. Henry Watterson voyaged to the Hudson after the St. Louis convention last year to lay his ex-voto on the bale.

the Esopian altar. The spiritual delight thus experienced by the gallant Colonel was an exquisite that, taking all his countrymen into confidence, he informed them that Judge Parker was the most remarkable discovery ever made by democracy. So, indeed, did the Hester county jurist prove. But Mr. James refused to make any submission to Parker or the gold bug leaders. The congressman thus increased his popularity immensely at home. Now his friends are outvying each other in promoting Mr. James' candidacy for governor in 1907. The Mayfield Messenger claims:

The Messenger was the first paper in the state that advocated the Hon. Ollie James as the logical man to be nominated by the Democrats of Kentucky for governor of the state. Since then other papers and leading Democrats in various parts of the state have come to the conclusion that the position of the Messenger was well taken.

The troubles and perplexities of the state machine increase with every passing hour. What promise can the machine make to elect a Congressman James? For the governorship the Hon. S. W. Hinger is slated; for Senator Blackburn's place Judge Paynter; for Senator McCreary's seat Gov. Heckman. With James in the game somebody is sure to be laid up for repairs.

Costly Meals.

The costliest meal ever served, as far as history shows, was a supper given by Aclis Verus, one of the most lavish of the latter day Roman aristocrats. The supper was only intended for a dozen persons, yet its cost was $600,000 in English money, or nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The celebrated feast given by Vitellius, a Roman emperor of those degenerate days, to his brother Lucius cost a fraction over $200,000. Suetonius says that this banquet consisted of 2,000 different dishes of fish and 7,000 different fowls, besides other courses in proportion. Vitellius, fortunately for the world, did not reign very long. Otherwise the game preserve of Libya, Spain and Britain would have been exhausted.

It may not be out of place to mention here that it is recorded as a curious point of history that a single dish on the table of the Emperor Hellogabalus was worth $200,000.

No Handkerchief.

"What's the matter?" inquired Ascan. "What are you searching your pockets for?" "I tied a knot in my handkerchief this morning," said the absentminded man, "to remind me of something I was to get for my wife, and now I can't find the handkerchief!" —Exchange.

THOUSANDS VIEW THE BIG PARADE

Forepunch and Sells Brothers Have an Immense Show.

The City Filled With Enthusiastic People—Tents Will Be Crowded.

ONE OF LARGEST RACES HERE

Today is circus day and anyone could readily tell it. As early as 7 o'clock crowds began to congregate on Broadway waiting for the parade. All the store fronts and apartment windows were filled with people long before the parade started.

All incoming trains brought in great crowds. The accommodation train from Fulton carried one extra coach and brought in about 150 passengers. The accommodation train from Cairo brought in three coaches filled with passengers from Interstate. Late points between Paducah and Cairo. A number of sightseers also came in on the Hopkinsville Cairo train at 9:30.

The schools, recognizing the importance of the circus to the school children, were dismissed at 10:15 o'clock in order that the little ones could see the parade.

The procession started from the grounds on Sixteenth, between Monroe and Harrison, shortly after ten o'clock and was one of the biggest and most magnificent ever seen in Paducah. It was led by a drum corps followed by a big concert band. The chariots preceded the ladies on horseback and following the ladies came veterans of all wars on horse back. The stock ridden in the parade was doubtless the finest ever seen in any circus here and won the admiration of all lovers of horse flesh.

The parade showed that Forepunch and Sells Brothers have a sufficiency of musketeers, carrying six bands, including one clown band. There were 12 open cases, 20 elephants, including two giant African species, 15 camels with their baby camels; a big hippopotamus and many other animals of the jungles.

Following the menagerie came Russian Cosaks, dancers, troubadours, etc., in chariots, japs, etc.

Since last season the parade has been enlarged and improved upon by master hands in the art of producing circus attractions. There is something in this pageant to interest and hold the attention of every spectator. The student of natural history has the wonders of the wild animal world brought before him in living, breathing reality. The lover of the stock has scores of magnificent thoroughbred horses upon which to feast his eyes; the admirer of physical perfection is regaled with the sight of hundreds of the world's greatest acrobats, equilibristas, gymnasts and riders; the athletic interest is gratified in the splendid splendor of massive, beautifully carved floats representing the known countries of the globe. Men and women in the picturesque garb of the various nations form regal allegorical tableaux. Each float is accompanied by a detachment of the soldiery of the country represented, and the picture is further enlivened and made more realistic by bands, composed of German, Russian, French, Scottish, Indian and Persian musicians. The parade is in thirty sections, and each one is a superb attraction in itself.

The opening performance in the big tent began at two o'clock and will start tonight at 8, but the doors will be open an hour earlier in order visitors may have ample time to inspect the immense menagerie, which contains numerous rare and costly animal attractions. The performance includes hundreds of new and novel acts, including the services of 200 high-class artists, 10 clowns and hundreds of auxiliaries, and the regal, spectacular production of Panama, or the Parols of the Sea.

Seats are on sale at McPherson's drug store. The grounds at 12th and Trimble streets proved to be too small for the big show, and another location was secured further out, but easily reached by the Broadway, Hawthorn and Trimble street car line. The parade today evoked expressions of the greatest surprise and delight from people who have seen circus parades for a quarter of a century. Many pronounced it the very best they ever witnessed.

It was not only good in quantity but likewise in quality, and the excellent care and promptness were exercised in getting it out on time.

The tents and grounds are a model of cleanliness, convenience and safety, and hold a veritable village in itself.

This afternoon a record breaking crowd is in the big tents, with every indication of a continuation of the beautiful weather for tonight.

IN THE COURTS

Given by Bondsman.

Dispatches from Paris, Tenn., state that Contractor K. D. Snell, of Paducah, who was recently held on a charge of abducting his stepson from Mansfield, Tenn., and released on a $1,000 bond, has been turned over by his bondsman and committed back to jail. It is alleged that a man named V. Chase of Paducah was arrested for giving the young lady, Miss Snell, a note alleged to be from Snell, and the latter went down to attend the trial, being then turned over to the court by his bondsman. Chase was held over on a charge of conspiracy to abduct and also went to jail. It is said the note he took the young lady was one proposing another elopement.

Circuit Court.

At press time this afternoon the case of L. E. Stevenson, administrator, of his wife, against the L. E. Snell, was on trial. The plaintiff asks for $25,000 damages for the death of his wife who was killed in an accident at Dawson Springs when a freight train ran down a party of picnickers on a trestle.

The suit of Cathey against the E. Rehkopf Saddlery company, was dismissed without prejudice, as it was shown that Mr. E. Rehkopf, at the time the Cathey boy was hurt in the collar shop, personally owned the shop and operated it. A suit will now, it is understood, be brought against Mr. Rehkopf personally.

A judgment for $136 was filed in the case of A. Menckle & Sons against John L. Jones.

A verdict for the defendant was filed in the case of Lavie Smith against the Paducah City Railway company. The plaintiff filed motion with reasons for a new trial in the case of Daisy Ford against the Paducah City Railway company.

A judgment for $100 and sale of property was filed in the case of A. L. Moore against J. J. Barnhardt.

The Citizens' Bank against H. A. Rose and others, was dismissed and settled.

Suits For Divorce.

Ed. Roberts has filed suit against Minnie Roberts for divorce, alleging that she abandoned him. They were married in Metropolis in 1901 and separated in 1904.

Ruby Belle Herrington sues John Herrington for divorce alleging abandonment. They were married in March, 1901, and lived together until April 28, of the same year. He is now a resident of Camden, Tenn.

Hessig Bankruptcy Case.

Referee Hagby will on the 15th hold a meeting of creditors in the H. T. Hessig bankruptcy case. The action of Referee Hagby in reporting Dr. Hessig a bankrupt was ratified by Judge Evans and the matter referred back for action. This calls for a meeting of creditors to take what steps are deemed necessary to ward settling the estate.

Police Court.

Shirley Hughes, colored, was arraigned this morning on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses by selling a wheel which he is alleged to have stolen.

The case was continued on account of witnesses. Hughes has already been held over for alleged bicycle stealing and the police are still trying to identify one or two wheels they think Hughes stole.

Other cases were: Theohold Peters, white, Violate Sabbath, continued; H. T. Hessig and wife, two cases breach of peace against latter continued; Sam Halland, Alex Yeltema and Nick Bryant, gaming, continued; Nora Smith, colored, $1 and costs for breach of peace; Mack Jackson, colored, drunk and disorderly, $10 and costs; Mary Harman, white, breach of peace, $1 and costs; Geo. Hayes and Dink Williams, colored, malicious shooting, continued.

County Court.

Joe Martin, age 23, and Mary Ward, age 22, of the city. First marriage of both. Have Paschall, age 13, and Emma Billard, age 5, colored, of the city. Third marriage of both. Rebecca Hays waiving right to qualify as guardian to George W.

A PASTOR'S WIFE CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. ANNA H. FLEHARTY, recent Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Chicago, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Schenck Westham University, at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 61 Sixty-eighth street, W. C. T. U., Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Fleharty says the following in regard to Peruna:

"Having lived a very active life as wife and working partner of a busy minister, my health failed me a few years ago. I lost my appetite and sleep, and gradually I seemed to lose health and spirit. My daughter is a confirmed invalid, and we both felt great need of a restorative."

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Peruna. A bottle was immediately secured and a great change took place in my daughter's as well as in my own health. Our appetites improved very greatly, the digestion seemed much helped, and restful sleep soon improved us, so that we seemed like new women."

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna H. Fleharty.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female disease. To this he began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the most famous remedy for female diseases ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female disease.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female catarrh than any other living physician. He writes:

Mrs. Anna H. Fleharty.

comes simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Mrs. Esther M. Miller, Detroit, Mich., writes:

"I was a terrible sufferer from female weakness and had the headache continuously. I was not able to do my housework for myself and husband. I wrote you and described my condition as near as possible. You recommended Peruna. I took four bottles and was completely cured. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."—Mrs. Esther M. Miller.

Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, of Chambersburg, Pa., writes:

"I take pleasure in commending your Peruna as a substantial tonic and a good catarrh remedy."—T. M. Mahon.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. J. C. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanatorium, Colorado, other living physicians, etc.

WILL NOT BUY

CITY WILL PROBABLY BE UNABLE TO SELL FRANCHISE.

East Tennessee Company Says Note Heads Are Causing the Present Controversy.

There does not appear to be much prospect of a controversy over the telephone franchise ordinance. Attorneys for the East Tennessee company, for which the new ordinance being worked on by Attorneys Campbell and Corbett is supposed to be intended, say that they know nothing about it, and care less. They say that if a telephone franchise is sold, it will not be bought by the East Tennessee company unless it suits the company. If one is put up and sold that does not suit the company, it can be bought, a representative of the company said today, by some of those it does suit.

When asked about buying no right to do business in Paducah, the company's representative only laughed and replied "If we hadn't any right to do business here, now do they suppose we have been here doing it all this time?"

"We have a contract with the city of Paducah and have fulfilled our part of it, and expect the city to do the same. The city has agreed to sell us a franchise and we have agreed to buy it if it suits us, and the city has already collected the money for it."

"It can safely be said that the city can get up and sell as many telephone franchises as it desires, but we'll have none that does not suit us. We don't really need a franchise, so we are not worried. Some of those behind this present squabble are men who have been refused free telephone and other attempted graft by this company, and their motives will likely be shown up in due time. They are not out working in the interest of the people, or for lower telephone rates, or anything else except to make things as unpleasant for us as they can because they are sore. We are taking things easy, as I don't care what they do. We know we don't need any franchise, or we won't be taking things easy. We don't have to have one and will not have one unless it is just and reasonable to the company."

The Paducah Rifle and Target club held a shoot at the creek range yesterday. Some good scores were made. This is the second shoot of the season.

The Willing Workers society of the German Evangelical church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Smith.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the lecture room of the First Baptist church. All members are urged to be present.

Princeton Team Here.

Becker and Walters is the battery for the Princeton team which arrived at 2 o'clock on the Fowler this afternoon. McMill and Virgil, both who were in the Paducah team last season, are back with Ray and say they have a hitting bunch and will give the Indians a hard battle. The Princeton team is hot after the Indians because of the rivalry of Munger Ray and Lloyd, Lloyd having succeeded Ray as manager of the Indians. It is said that Ray once as served that he would work his outfielders in the box against Cairo and work his star twirlers against Paducah "anything to beat Paducah."

Hopkinsville Wedding.
Yesterday's Hopkinsville New Era says of a wedding that is of interest here on account of the popularity of the bride:

"At 'Richland,' the beautiful Wheeler homestead south of the city, on the Clarksville pike, Mrs. Emily Wheeler Elliott and Mr. Harry I. Minty were joined in matrimony this morning in the presence of a limited number of relatives and intimate friends. The impressive Episcopal service was used and the officiating clergyman was the Rev. George C. Abbott, rector of Grace church."

"Mr. and Mrs. Minty will spend their honeymoon at 'Richland' and will leave next month for Canada. The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. William G. Wheeler and a beautiful young woman whose graciousness and varied accomplishments and many personal charms have won her a host of devoted friends and admirers. The fortunate bridegroom, who is her distant kinsman, is a prominent and popular citizen and foremost business man in Toronto."

Mrs. W. F. Bradshaw, of this city, an aunt of the bride, attended the wedding from here. She was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, of "Richland," who came to attend the marriage of her grandson, Mr. James Campbell, Jr., to Miss Florence Yelverton today.

Pretty Wedding This Morning.

The marriage of Miss Neva Hill and Mr. Ernest Karnes was solemnized this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church by the Rev. Father H. W. Jansen. Only the families and immediate friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony.

The bride looked very lovely in a charming gown of white crepe de chine over white silk. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ella Hill, who wore a pretty costume of pink crepe de chine and silk. The couple left immediately on a bridal trip north and on their return will reside at the Hawthleigh flats, on North Sixth street.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. A. Hill, of Madison street, and is a young lady of more than usual charm of personality. The groom is a son of Mr. W. M. Karnes, the prominent contractor, and is a member of the firm of Hill & Karnes, brick contractors. Both are popular in a wide circle of friends.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding were: Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Hill, of Princeton, and Miss Mattie Hinson, of Uniontown, Ky.

To Attend a House Party.

Mr. W. G. McFadden, one of the most prominent members of the Kentucky-Tennessee Photographers' Association, has received an invitation to attend a house party to be given the latter part of this month at Terre Haute, Ind., by Mr. George Hollaway, president of the National Photographers' Association. Fifty of the most prominent photographers in the country have been invited to the party, and the invitation to Mr. McFadden indicates that Mr. Hollaway is making no mistake in the selection of his guests. Mr. McFadden will probably attend and read a paper on "Art Composition."

Yelverton-Campbell Wedding This Afternoon.

The marriage of Miss Florence Yelverton and Mr. James Campbell, Jr., takes place at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. It will be quite a social event.

The couple leave immediately after the ceremony on a bridal trip south.

TIPS.

Homes within Homes. Those who live in furnished rooms—whose homes are within other homes, are said to be the most independent people in the world. They are not "tied down" like other people. When they cease to like the people around them, they move. If the neighborhood is too noisy, or the location "too far out," or the view wearsles them, or the service is bad, or there is too little privacy—they publish a "room wanted" ad. In the paper, spend an evening reading the replies, go and look at a few of the places offered, make a decision, pack their trunks and move. The wonder is that any one who lives in a home-within-a-home should be content with a poor one when one want ad. will bring offers of scores of the most desirable ones in the whole city! What is a home-within-a-home without Want advertising?

BISHOP GALLOWAY
Spoken of For the New President of Vanderbilt University—Well-Known Here.

It is stated in various press dispatches that at the meeting of the board of trust of Vanderbilt University on June 17, Bishop C. B. Galloway, of Mississippi, will be elected to the presidency of the board. It is desired to restore to that position the power held by Bishop McTear when president, and the virile and eloquent Galloway can well do this. A forceful personality is particularly needed at this time in view of the recent disastrous fire of the university, and Bishop Galloway's wonderful magnetism and tact can accomplish much. In Mississippi he carried the state in a local option election even against Jefferson Davis.

Bishop R. K. Hargrove, of Nashville, the present incumbent of the office, is in failing health and will retire at the coming meeting. Others have been mentioned, but it seems that Bishop Galloway is practically the choice and much pressure will be brought to bear to make him accept.

Bishop Galloway is well known here where he has visited on several occasions. He preached the dedicatory sermon of the New Broadway Methodist church several years ago.

Married in Tennessee.

Jackson, Tenn., May 10.—A courtship of several years culminated in the marriage of Miss Clara Ellis, of Hardwell, Kentucky, who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Seth L. Atherton, corner of Morgan, and Johnston streets, for several months, and Mr. Owen Hays, of Arlington, Ky. Miss Lucy Randall and Mr. Will Hard were the attendants.

The fair girl bride had not anticipated marriage until midsummer, but when the young lover came for his Sunday call, he argued his case with such forceful eloquence that the result was as given.

RIVER NEWS

Observations taken at 7 a. m. River 20.2 on the gauge, a fall of 0.7 in the last 24 hours. Weather clear and warm. Rainfall .10 with south winds. Temperature 70.

S. A. FOWLER,
Local Observer.

The J. S. will come out of Cumberland today en route up the Ohio and Capt. Lee Gordon went up to take her into the Ohio. He will remain on the boat to Owensboro and then back to St. Louis.

The Dick Fowler cleared on time this morning for Cairo.

The Buttorff went out at noon for Nashville.

The Clyde will go out tonight for Tennessee river.

The Kentucky is due from Tennessee river Friday.

The Cowling brought up 200 people this morning to see the circus.

The Charleston has gone into the Tennessee river.

The Joe Fowler is due this afternoon from Evansville and will have about 2,000 bags of corn for Tennessee river.

The W. W., formerly the Wyonia, will leave in a day or two for Dubuque, Iowa, after an overhauling here on the ways.

The Wilford is due out of Tennessee river.

The Georgia Lee will come from Memphis Sunday to go on the ways for repairs.

The Hess Lee passed down last night from Cincinnati for Memphis.

Capt. Alex. Halliday is expected to arrive in Louisville from New Orleans to take his new steel ferryboat down to New Orleans.

The Avalon has laid up at Madison for repairs. When ready to run again she will enter the Coney Island and trade with the Island Queen.

Capt. John Case has gone to Kenney's Castle, below St. Louis, to help the Clarke and tow in trouble there.

The Clarke and tow, bound from Cairo to St. Louis, ran aground at Kenney's Castle, thirty miles below St. Louis Sunday. Part of the tow got off and the boat and remainder of the tow will get afloat without the loss of any coal.

The heavy class tow boats are unable to reach Pittsburg with their cargoes on account of the upper Ohio being too low, and many of the homeward bound boats will be compelled to lie up along shore and wait for a rise before they can get home with their tows.

KEEPING HOLD.

Don't Let Go of All the Pleasant Times of Your Youth.

It was the tourist season in Washington, although for that matter it is tourist season there pretty steadily for nine months out of the twelve every year, and the day being perfect the library of congress was thronged with visitors. Enthusiastic groups were gathered in every corridor, weary sightseers filled the seats or dropped limply on the stairs, and the marble floors echoed with the constant passing of feet.

Suddenly from a group of gray haired ladies, the youngest of whom must have been long past fifty, an eager voice was heard:

"Oh, girls, look at this picture!"

People who were near glanced smilingly at each other; two schoolgirls giggled aloud, and a third woman on the steps looked wistfully after the happy group of "girls."

"Aren't they having a good time?" she said to the woman beside her. "I'll warrant they were schoolmates, and they've kept it up all their lives, and now they're having a regular lark together. It's nice to see them so, only it kind of makes you feel as if you might have kept hold of things in your own life that you've let go, doesn't it?"

"Yes, it does," her friend agreed soberly.

"I believe it one of the most happy things in the world as we grow older," Lowell once wrote to a friend, "to have as many ties as possible with whatever is best in our own youth and to be pleased as deeply as possible may be to our own youth."

To be pledged deeply to one's youth, to "keep hold of things in your own life," surely there is no better secret for making the years yield rich harvests.—Youth's Companion.

THE EYEBROWS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May be Improved.

Sharp eyebrows never make a pretty profile. Get a small bottle of pure almond oil and put it in a dish of hot water. Let the water remain hot while you add a teaspoon of red vasoline to an ounce of the oil. Stir while it cools, and you will have a soft pomade which is just the thing to use as an eyebrow grower.

Take a small camel's hair brush and go over your eyebrows every night. Outline the brows just exactly as you like them to be. Next morning wash the face with hot water. Do this every night and you will be rewarded by abundant and pretty eyebrows.

To treat the eyes successfully take a bowl of warm water—say a pint of water—and dissolve into it a teaspoonful of powdered borax. Set the bowl where it will keep hot, and then bathe the eyes with the solution. Use it every night before going to bed.

The wrinkle between the eyes—and all women of thirty have this wrinkle—must be massaged away. Then, too, all the little querulous lines in the forehead must be brushed away with the finger tips. Besides this, the chin must be nicely massaged to keep away the crow's feet from around the mouth.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

For nosebleeding bathe the head, face and neck with cold water.

To stop the bleeding of a bad cut apply finely powdered rice or flour to the wound.

The juice of an orange in a cup of hot water taken before breakfast is healthful and good for indigestion and constipation.

In fevers give food that is most easily digested. Milk, which contains all the food principles, is the best special diet for fevers.

A taxsed poultice should be applied to an inflowing toe nail to reduce the inflammation. After that more heroic measures can be resorted to.

The fumes of burnt camphor will instantly relieve a cold in the head. Put a piece of camphor the size of an egg in an old saucer. Set it on fire, and after burning a few moments blow out the flames and inhale the fumes.

Remarkable Record.

To have gone round the world five times preaching, and to have addressed, through interpreters, men and women speaking 107 different dialects and languages, is the remarkable record achieved by the American woman preacher, Miss Jessie Ackerman. Commencing her ministry at the age of twenty-four, Miss Ackerman, traveling without escort, has spoken in South America, South Africa, Australasia, India, Japan, China, Korea and Siberia. The miners of Mexico and Alaska were preached to at the bottom of the mines. In Ireland the legislative body accorded the woman abolitioner a public reception. Miss Ackerman has also preached in the chief towns of every country in Europe.

"Although I have traveled quite alone, on many occasions among semi-civilized people," said Miss Ackerman, "I have never been molested in any way."—London Daily Mail.

A Divided Stove Lid.

The housekeeper who has occasion to cook in small quantities will find a divided lid a great convenience for her stove or range. This lid is made up of a series of rings fitted together so that any one part may be lifted out, leaving a very small, medium or large opening. A small dish may be set within the small opening, thus getting direct heat and cooking its contents much more quickly. If there are kettles or cookers which are too small for the usual opening made by the lid, a narrow rim which will set just inside the opening may be purchased and will prevent many accidents from tipping utensils. Either the sectional lid or the narrow rim may be had from your stove dealer.—Pharm.

The Sarcasitic Cabman.

The whip tickling hero of this story had driven an irascible old fellow a good three mile journey. When the fare climbed stiffly out and slowly produced a big pocketbook evidently drew a deep breath and prepared to be sarcastic. A watchful constable standing near prevented all thought of his relieving his feelings by the use of picturesque terms.

Subby watched his face make a lengthy mental calculation of the distance he had been driven, added the exact legal fare, counted it twice over and then proffered it to him, with an expression on his face plainly indicative of "Now, then, you dare dispute it and I'll take your number."

But Subby didn't dispute it. Instead he promptly accepted it, but, slipping his hand into another pocket, he produced a farthing, which he handed to the fare.

"What's this for?" demanded the old fellow.

"One farthing, current coin of the realm, sir," said Subby, gathering up his reins. "I draw yer jest the exact distance represented by art of that there shakel under the three mile you reckoned. I ain't got no art farley about me, but it don't matter. You can keep the change, I ain't mean. Goodby, sir, and God bless you. Geemp, 'orse!"—London Standard.

A Dreaded Quilt.

Queen Victoria was an expert and indefatigable knitter. During the Egyptian campaign she and the ladies of the household employed, themselves in knitting quilts, which at the end of the war were sent to Netley hospital for the use of the wounded. One of these, made entirely by her majesty and bearing an elaborate V. H. in the center, was the coveted prize excellence of the institution and in universal demand for a time. In assessing the claims of the candidates for the honor of sleeping upon it the medical staff naturally gave the precedence to the most severely wounded, and as the most severely wounded was the one most likely to die very soon, alas, an evil omen attached itself to the distinction, the climax of which was reached one night when a poor soldier, feeling something troubling his bedclothes, woke up with perspiration pouring down his face and cried out, "Oh, sir, do anything you like with me, but for God's sake don't give me the quilt!"

The Mechanism of the Salmon.

A salmon is miraculously adapted to the conditions amid which it lives. It can cleave through tons of water falling perpendicularly, yet its fins and its tail, which seem to hold the propelling power, are not less fragile than the wings of a bat. It can be killed without injury to its contour, and a plaster cast of it can be made, yet no mechanism can devise an instrument which will lie in the water and move as it does, and no theory of dynamics has explained either its postures in the water or its motion. Simple in its organization as it seems, its movements are as imitable by any human contrivance as the flight of a bird has proved to be.

The Debit of Miller.

The father of M. Cashin-Perier called on Corot one day and found him in the act of finishing a picture. "A masterpiece!" exclaimed the visitor. "I must have it."

"It is yours," promptly replied Corot, "if you will agree to pay the butcher and baker bills of my illustrious but poor friend, Jean Francois Miller."

"Agreed," said the patron, well pleased. The bills were presented to him, and they amounted to nearly $3000, neither butcher nor baker having been paid for twelve years.

His Idea of a Lady.

An English ex-convict had brought suit against a woman for not paying the legal fare, and his constant remark was, "She ain't a lady." "Do you know a lady when you see one?" asked the judge. "I do, yer honor. Last week a lady gave me a sov'rin instead of a shilling, and I called out, 'Beg pardon, madam, I've got a sov'rin instead of a shilling,' and she shouts back, 'Well, you old fool, keep the change and get drunk with it!' That's wor I calls a lady."

Patently Frank.

An individual recently went into a drug store and asked for morphine. The druggist objected to dispensing it without a prescription.

"Why?" asked the customer. "Do I look like a man who would kill him self?"

A Suggestion.

"I'm glad you like your suit," said the tailor.

"Yes, it's a fine piece of work," said Slapsy, much pleased. "It's certainly a credit to you."

"I'm I—er—hope you won't forget that it's a debit to you."—Philadelphia Press.

With His Tact.

Jeweler—How long have you carried this watch? Customer (more or less run down at the heel): Well, I've had it five or six years, but I haven't carried it much. It has generally been in the or keeping of a relative. Chicago Tribune.

Didn't Know Hyman.

Nordy—Lots of people are getting married nowadays. Butts Yes. Hyman Is doing a flourishing business. Nordy—What's he sell? Carpets and house furnishings? Louisville Courier-Journal.

If every one knew what one said of the other there would not be four friends left in the world.—Punch.

115 Fraud Orders.

Washington, May 10. The work of the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department against frauds and lotteries in the last four or five months has attracted a great deal of attention. During the months of January, February, March and April, 115 fraud orders were issued by Postmaster General Doolittle. This is about twice as many as were issued in the first four months of 1904. During January, February, March and April, twenty-three fraud orders were directed against frauds in New York city. Boston was next with seven; Chicago and Philadelphia each had five; Minneapolis and Los Angeles four; St. Louis, San Francisco and Buffalo had three apiece.

SIR HENRY MORGAN, BUCCANEER

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY,

Author of "The Southerners," "For Love of Country," "The Grip of Honor," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. BILLINGHAM COMPANY

At the same time the admiral arose, buckled on his sword and made ready to go on deck to meet Lord Carlisleford should it prove to be his expected visitor. Finding a moment to say a final word to the master, he was conscious of something striking the ship before he could formulate the idea that a boat must have hit the bows. There were several similar shocks. The old master, who happened to be unattended, stepped forward.

"That will be a boat, sir," he said quickly, "striking against the side of the ship. There's another and another."

"Let us go on deck at once," said Kempthorne, stepping forward. As he did so the silence was broken by a wild, terrified cry. A moment after the sentry on the quarter deck outside the entrance to the poop cabin fired his pistol. The shot was followed by the sound of a heavy fall. A sharp, imperious voice cried quickly:

"The ship is ours! Waste no time! Overboard with him! Clap to the hatch covers!"

The necessity for concealment outside was apparently at an end. The heavy covers were flung down upon the hatches and secured. The ship was filled with a confused babel of many voices and tramping feet. At the sound of the shot the admiral and the master sprang to the door, but before they could pass the entrance it was being violently open, and a man richly dressed after the fashion of an Indian, followed by a tall, savage looking half breed, a compound of negro and Indian, clad in a gorgeous liver, each with pistol and sword, sprang in to the room and forced the two men back. As soon as he could recover himself Kempthorne whipped out his sword, the found himself covered, however, as did the master, with a pistol.

"Throw down your sword," cried Morgan fiercely, "and yield yourselves without quarter!"

"Who are you that ask?"

"Sir Henry Morgan,"

"You bloody villain!" cried Kempthorne, "have you attempt to take the king's ship?"

"That for the king?" answered Morgan, waving his sword. "Who are you?"

"Sir John Kempthorne, admiral and vice governor of Jamaica."

"You would gain all my station, would you, sir?"

"I would not descend to the station of a pirate, a robber, a murderer, a—"

"Silence!" roared Morgan furiously. "The ship is ours! I've a message for the king. Will you carry it?"

"I would not insult my royal master by carrying a message from such a man."

"You will have it!" shouted Morgan, white with rage, lunging forward at him.

Their blades crossed in an instant, and at the same moment the old master, reckless of what happened, lunged himself between the two. There was a roar from Carlisle's pistol, and the old man fell. As Kempthorne relaxed his guard slightly in the confusion Morgan ran him through. The admiral fell so suddenly that he jerked the blade, buried in his breast, out of the buccaneer's hand.

"God," he gasped as he lay upon the body of the old sailor. "God—save the—king!"

"Wouldst sit in my place, sir?" cried Morgan, laughing triumphantly as he turned on his heel and left the cabin.

Beneath the hatches the platoon of soldiers and the men there imprisoned were yelling and making a tremendous racket. They were helpless, however, and could do nothing. The men of the boarding parties were clustered in groups forward and aft and around the closed passageways into the interior of the ship waiting for the next order.

The noise and confusion which had followed the sentry's bold shot had awakened the attention of the people of the town. Lights twinkled on the ramparts of the fort, and the long roll of a drum could be heard coming faintly up the harbor against the wind.

Lord Carlisleford had just entered his boat to board the ship. There was not a moment to lose.

"Hornblower, go forward with your men to the foreward. Vessels, come you hither with yours for the after guard; Teach to the fore, Hayneman to the main and back to the mainmast. Loose sail. Lively now. We must get out of this before the fort's awake," cried Morgan.

Instantly the shrouds were covered with nimble forms making their way aloft where the wide yardarms stretched far over the sea. The men were in good spirits, the capture of the ship had been so easy. There had been only the anchor watch and the sentry on deck to deal with, and they had been murdered unsuspecting, although the cabin sentry had killed one of the attacking party and wounded another before he went down. The jumped with alacrity, therefore, to obey their captain's commands. As the ponderous sheets of canvas fell from the yards the main and mizzenmast were hoisted and the ship the vessel to the anchor was cut, the ship swung to starboard, the yards were braced in, and she began to slip through the water toward the narrow mouth of the harbor. There were other war vessels in the harbor, but they were all dismantled and laid up in ordinary, so the buccaneers had no pursuit to fear.

The guns of the fort commanded the harbor mouth and under ordinary circumstances would have made it impossible for a ship to enter or leave without permission. The mouth was narrow and dangerous, but the best pilot in the West Indies stood forward leaning over the railings, coming the ship. Hayneman and Vessers, than whom no better seamen ever held a spoke, by Morgan's orders were stationed at the wheel to steer the frigate, back and Teach distributed the best of the men among the guns of the star deck battery on the port side. As was usual, the guns were already charged. There were no loggheads available, no matches with which to fire them, but Morgan instructed those who seemed to have some skill in gunnery, whom he placed in temporary charge of the cannon, how to fire them by snapping their pistols at the touch holes, which were primed from a powder horn that had been brought by the pirates.

The land breeze was fresh and strong, and the Mary Rose vindicated her claim to be considered a fast sailer. She fairly ripped down the harbor, threading her way through the channel under Hornblower's able pilotage until she came near to the narrow entrance. By Morgan's orders each man remained motionless at the place where he had been stationed, and the ship so far as human noise was concerned was as still as death. Even the soldiers below, finding no attention paid to their cries, had subsided into comparative quiet. The silence was broken only by the creaking of cordage, the dashing of water against the bows, and the grunting of the timbers. Ever and anon Hornblower's deep voice, crying "Starboard!" or "Starboard!" as the case might be, rolled along the deck to the watchful men gripping the wheel. Suddenly the old buccaneer cried out sharply:

"There's a boat right ahead, sir."

"Hull her down!" answered Morgan instantly.

"Aye, aye! Starboard! Starboard again! Let her go off another half point. Steady! Now! Meet her! Meet her!"

The ship swept around slightly and rushed directly at the boat. It was a boat of the governor. Instantly wild cries arose from the men on the bows. They were stopped by a stern voice:

"Aye, the Mary Rose!"

"Silence."

"Aye, the frigate! What are you doing? Where is Admiral Kempthorne?"

At that instant the soldiers beneath the hatches suddenly resumed their position, thus appaling the men in the boat that something was sadly wrong.

"Starboard your helm," cried a voice from the boat, "or you'll be on us. Who's in command? What are you about?"

"Sir Henry Morgan!" shouted a voice out of the darkness. "And we mean to run you down!"

"Hull water for God's sake! Stern all!" cried Lord Carlisleford to the paralyzed rowers, but before they could move the booming bow of the frigate was upon them. Carlisleford had risen in his boat before the collision, and with daimless courage he shook his bare sword in the darkness toward the ship.

"The king will triumph!" he cried, "A terrible smashing crash cut short his words, and amid the ripping, tearing sound of the parting timbers of the overboarded boat and shouts, cries and appeals for mercy the Mary Rose swept on.

A wild yell of abhorrence broke from the pirates. They were completely possessed by their success now, but Morgan stopped the noise in an instant.

stand. "Silence!" roared the captain. "We are not yet free! Back to your stations! Stand by the harbor but tery!"

At that time the entrance to the harbor was very narrow, and the channel swept close under the Port Royal shore. Everybody in the town knew that something had happened on the frigate. The garrison of the fort was out, and the guns were loaded and bore fair upon the channel. Softly, for they were within gunshot distance of the fort, Morgan passed the word to train the guns of the battery on the parapet of the fort. He also told off all the men with small arms to line the ship, with instructions for them to fire at the portholes of the fort as they passed, and he charged every one under pain of death to keep all first until he gave the word. Hornblower beat all his mind to getting the ship safely out of the harbor. Two or three rebellious men were stationed in the gangway, whose sole business it was to report his commands without fail during the confusion, no matter what happened. They were right in the entrance now and coming opposite the fort. The men below were still keeping up a great noise, but a hull which came across the water from the rampart was entirely audible, the distance not being more than half pistol shot.

"Hello, the Mary Rose! Hello, the frigate!"

"Aye, aye! What is it?"

"Where are you going? Where's Lord Carlisleford?"

"There was no answer. The rapidly moving ship was fairly abreast the fort now. In thirty seconds she would be beyond it.

"We have killed the governor and Kempthorne, and this is the ship of Sir Henry Morgan, bound for the Spanish main on a buccaneering cruise. Fire!"

A perfect hail of shot at point blank range belched forth from the twenty-four guns of the harbor battery of the crushing ship. In the surprise and confusion caused by this murderous discharge at short range the frigate slipped by, and, although every gun in the fort, whether it bore or not, was finally discharged by the infuriated soldiery, no serious damage was done to the ship. Here and there a man fell. Pouring an effective musketry and pistol fire upon the surprised garrison, the frigate slipped through the channel. Before the cannon could be reloaded they were out of range. There before them lay the open sea, bounded to the southward by the rich and unprotected cities of the Spanish main.

"We're out of the harbor, sir," cried Hornblower, coming aft to where Morgan stood triumphant on the poop.

"That's well!" said the commander. "Secure the guns and muster the crew. We'll divide into watches and bear away to the southward."

"Long live Sir Henry Morgan, king of the buccaneers!" cried a voice out of the darkness, and amid a tremendous roar of cheers the vessel swept away.

CHAPTER V.

TEN days after her departure from Port Royal the Mary Rose was tumbling southward before a gentle breeze through the blue and laughing seas.

Much had happened in the interval. In the first place, Morgan had organized and drilled the ship's crew relentlessly. With the aid of the two principal adventurers, whom he had constituted his lieutenants, he had brought the motley crowd which he had shipped into a state of comparative efficiency and of entire submission to his iron will. The cooperative principle which had been the mainspring of action as well as the which produced unity among the freshmen of the coast had come to be regarded so far as Morgan was concerned. He took care, however, to be upon fairly amiable terms with the officers in command and the veterans, though he treated the rest of the riffraff like the dogs they were. They murmured and graged, but did not revolt, although it was quite possible if he pushed them too far and they found a leader they might make trouble.

In accordance with Hornblower's advice, after deliberation between Morgan and the leaders, the Mary Rose had first run up to La Vaca Island, south of Hispaniola, and the number of original marauders had been increased by fifty volunteers, all these, indeed, who could be reached from the small pirates who made that delectable spot their rendezvous. In addition to those the crew had also been reinforced largely from those of the unpaid and discontented seamen and soldiers of the frigate who had happened to be under hatches the night of the capture. Presented with the choice of instant death or adherence to the band, most of them had accepted the latter alternative, although, to their great credit, it said not until one or two of the loyal veterans who had had refused to have anything to do with their rankly captain had been forced to walk the plank as an example to the rest should they prove recalcitrant. Partly through terror, partly through discontent, partly on account of promises of the greatest reward any pirate had ever offered

One of Dr. Miles' circulars was left at my door, and what it contained about headache interested me, so that I determined to invest a dollar in their make of shot, and go gunning for that headache. The first charge brought it down, but I continued to shoot until the thing was shot so full of holes that I believe it will never come to life again. by Morgan himself, for he could talk as well as he could fight, and, most of all, because even at that date it was considered a meritorious act to attack a Spaniard, some seventy east in their lot with the rest.

Among the 220 members of the heterogeneous crew so constituted were to be found natives of almost every race under the sun, even including one or two Spanish renegades, and it would be safe to say that the lowest and meanest representatives of the several races were assembled on that very ship. The officers and men who had been recruited from Isla La Vaca as well as the older original members of the crew of the Mary Rose, together with a select few of the remainder, were men of approved courage. The officers, indeed, bore reputations for hardihood and daring not to be surpassed. Most of the rest, however, were arrant cowards. As a body the band could not compare except in leadership with the former bands of land cut-throats.

Morgan himself, however, almost made up for all deficiencies. His eye was keen, his hand as steady, his soul as reckless and his skill as high as when he had led the greatest buccaneer fleet that had ever assembled on the famous Panama expedition. Everybody on the ship hated him except young Teach and the faithful Black Dog. But they all feared him as much as they hated him, and they admired him as much as they feared him.

So far as he was concerned, discipline was absolute. No admiral of the fleet was ever served more promptly and respectfully than he. Even his nearest associates were treated with a certain haughtiness, which they bitterly resented and which they would have called in question had the situation been other than it was. Truth to tell, influenced by Hornblower, they had embarked upon a mad enterprise, and they needed Morgan to bring it to a successful conclusion. Without him they would have been lost.

KENTUCKY CROPS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

The Past Week Was a Good One for the Farmers.

Fruit, Tobacco, and Cereals Are Reported in Thriving Condition All Over the State.

GARDENS ARE LOOKING WELL.

The past week has been warm, with plenty of moisture, and the result has been beneficial to crops in Kentucky, according to the weekly report issued from the weather bureau planting has been somewhat retarded by rain. In regard to the various cereals, fruits and vegetables the report has this to say:

"Wheat continues improving and is most promising. It has begun to head out in some of the western and southern counties, where there is also some little complaint of rust."

"Corn planting continues industriously; the crop has been mostly planted in some sections and only about half so in others. There is some complaint of cut-worms where the early planted has come up."

"Oats doing nicely, though growing a little slowly in some sections. Rye is promising, and grasses and meadows are in excellent condition."

"Tobacco plants, in the main are still doing finely and are plentiful, except in some sections of the western part of the state. Cutworms, however, are doing considerable damage, and reports of damage from this source are becoming more general. Some few plants have been set out, while generally ground is being prepared for transplanting, which promises to be well under way in a week or ten days."

"Hemp has been sown and is coming up nicely."

"The fruit situation continues very good, improving, if anything, over last week. Peaches will probably be in short crop. Strawberries are ripening in the southern counties, the crop varying from fair to very good."

"Gardens are growing finely; potatoes are up and looking well, and tomatoes are being set out."

Died of Broken Heart.

Covington, Ky., May 10.—Grief over the recent death of her husband caused the sudden death of Mrs. Ella Sommers. A week ago her husband, Ben Sommers, formerly a well known baseball umpire and hotel proprietor, passed away, and two months before this sorrow Mrs. Sommers' favorite brother died. Since the death of her husband Mrs. Sommers' grief has been pathetic, and the attending physician says that a broken heart was the indirect cause of her demise.

Her Mind Affected.

Fulton, Ky., May 10.—The condition of Mrs. Dick Turner is pitiful in the extreme. For many weeks she has been in bad health and Monday night the climax was reached when her mind gave way under the strain. Shortly after dark Mr. Turner, who is night engineer at the pump house was informed that his wife had left her bed and home and no trace of her could be found. Marshal McDade traced the unfortunate lady from her home in East Fulton to the Isona hotel, and then for a time lost all trace of her.

While the guests of the hotel were at supper a woman dressed in black entered the dining room, took a hasty look about the room and left it. Being told of this occurrence Mr. McDade decided to search the hotel, in a back room on the third floor of the place Mrs. Turner was found. She had reached the room unobserved by the hotel people and had quietly retired. When questioned by the officer she refused to tell her name or answer any questions. She was taken back to her home and placed under the care of a physician.

At Mayfield, Ky.

Mayfield, Ky., May 10.—Mr. Arthur Riley and Miss Gertrude James were married near Golo.

Miss Reulah Warren, daughter of S. H. Warren, of Boaz, and sister of Jos Warren, of Mayfield, died after an illness of typhoid fever.

Betrayed by Sweetheart.

London, Ky., May 10.—Tilford Young, of Whitley county, charged with making counterfeit money was convicted in the United States court here. The court has not yet decided what his sentence shall be. He was betrayed by his sweetheart, Della Rogers, whom he had refused to marry. It was alleged, after he promised to do so. The case is a noted one, and has been in court three years. Young's sister created a scene by a wild screams and crying in the court room when the verdict was read.

JOKES FOR BARTENDER.

(New York Sun.)

"The bartender these days needs to be a good deal of a smart diplomat to hold down his job," remarked the man in the white jacket during a lull in his work. "The amount of gabby he has to stand for would put a drug clerk or a policeman into the bug ward in a week."

"What I complain about is the kind of guy who comes in with a friend about 10 in the morning and says: 'Make me a hot pousse-cafe with a loose egg in it,' or 'Give me a claret milk punch, and put a little abelthe on top.'"

"Those are the fellows that make me tired—the ingenious inventors and coiners that think they are awfully funny. There's the fellow that comes in every little while and says: 'Was Jones in last night?' and then asks: 'Was I with him?' I'll bet I've had that sprung on me a thousand times, and I am expected to answer and look as pleased as a stroked cat every time I hear it. Then there is the man who says: 'What are you selling for whiskey here?' or, 'Have you got any brandy, or something just as good?'"

"Then there is the practical joker who fills his glass nearly to the brim and looks as if he expected me to make a kick, but always pours back into the bottle all but a decent little drink. He stands about pat with the fellow who pretends to be very shaky in the morning and towa his glass up to his lips with a towel passed around his neck."

"Another of the same kind is the man who makes a dumb show in ordering his booze and pretends after drinking it that it has restored his voice. Some of those tricks are funny enough the first time you see them, but think of having to be up against them day after day!"

"One of the newest cracks at the bartender is asking for the barkeeper's delight. That means straight whiskey and ever since it was published in The Sun a few weeks ago I have been asked almost every day to serve it, and each customer seems to think that he is springing a new thing on me, and I have to let him believe that barkeepers never read and permit him to explain the matter."

"Then I have to take up a hearty laugh at his wit. Oh! it all makes me so weary that I'm seriously thinking of trying to get a job as an attendant in a deaf mute asylum."

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY THE DOCTORS

Dr. Holland, of This County, Was Elected President.

Banquet Last Night at Hotel Lagomarsino Was a Most Enjoyable Affair.

THE MEETING ENDS TODAY

Officers Elected.

Dr. S. Z. Holland, Grahamville, President.
Dr. W. L. Mosby, Bardwell, First Vice President.
Dr. Ed Prather, Hickman, Second Vice.
Dr. V. A. Stille, Benton, Secretary.
Dr. C. H. Brothers, Paducah, Treasurer.

The Southwest Kentucky Medical Association last night at the city hall elected officers for the ensuing year, and then enjoyed one of the finest banquets they ever had. The president's annual address was not delivered last night because Dr. Hart, the president, failed to come. The election of officers was accordingly the only thing on the program for last evening preceding the banquet and after the conclusion at 9:30 p. m. the delegates repaired to Hotel Lagomarsino and the banquet was soon in full swing.

The response of President Hart was presented by Dr. Holland, the new president, on "The Southwest Kentucky Medical Association." Dr. Kingsolving presented the response of Dr. Della Caldwell, who was absent, on "The Doctor's Best Friend."

Dr. J. G. Brooks was down for "The Quack," but could not come and Dr. Mosby, of Bardwell, filled his place.

Dr. Shelton represented Dr. D. B. Marrell in "The Doctor's Reward." The meeting came to a close this morning about 10:30 o'clock. Little was done this morning and but three papers were read. They were by Drs. A. J. Bean, on "Measles;" W. G. Kingsolving on "The General Practitioner," and "Systematic Examination of the School Children's Eyes and Ears," by Dr. M. W. Hozzell. The latter paper finished the meeting.

"I don't suppose it would be of any use to ask you to stay to tea," she said, as he was about to depart. "No," he replied, "not in that style and tone of voice."—Chicago News.
